

Sydney Modern Project

ART GALLERY OF NSW EXPANSION

PROJECT UPDATE – NOVEMBER 2019

The NSW Government is undertaking a major expansion of the Art Gallery of NSW, known as the Sydney Modern Project (the project). The project will include a new stand-alone building, located to the north of the existing Gallery building, as well as new exhibition spaces, a public art garden and the adaptive re-use of two decommissioned WWII oil tanks.

Who is delivering the Sydney Modern Project?

Infrastructure NSW on behalf of the NSW Government is overseeing the delivery of the project and is working closely with the Art Gallery of NSW as the operator of the existing Gallery and the future operator of the expanded Gallery.

In September 2019, the NSW Government signed a contract with Richard Crookes Constructions for the delivery of the project.

Site establishment works

On Tuesday 29 October 2019, Richard Crookes Constructions commenced preparing the site.

A temporary site compound has been established at the northern end of Lincoln Crescent while hoarding is installed around the site.

The installation of hoarding has started along Lincoln Crescent and will be progressively extended around the site over the coming weeks.

Following the installation of hoarding around the site, a permanent site compound will be established on the northern side of the existing gallery within the project site.

See map overleaf for the location of the project site, temporary site compound and pedestrian access routes.

During construction, pedestrian access routes may temporarily change due to construction activities. Impacted areas will be signposted to advise of alternate routes.

Construction hours

Hours of construction are as follows:

- Monday to Friday – 7am to 6pm
- Saturday – 8am to 3:30pm
- Sunday and public holidays – no work.

On some occasions, out of hours works may need to take place. Separate notifications will be provided to impacted stakeholders in advance of these works.
